FREEDOM AT HOME AND PEACE ABROAD IS BRITISH POLICY

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden Outlines Position in View of Increase in Armaments—Hopes for New Security Agreement Among European Nations—Stands by League

L EAMINGTON, Warwickshire, Nov. 20 (CP-Havas).—Foreign Secretary Eden tonight outlined the circumstances under which Britain would go to war. Referring to British armed forces at home and abroad in a speech to his constituents here, the Foreign Secretary declared:

"These arms will never be used in a war of aggression. They will never be used for a purpose inconsistent with the covenant of the League of Nations or the pact of Paris."

"They may—and if the occasion arises they would—be used in our own defence and in defence of the territories of the British Commonwealth of Nations."

"They may—and if the occasion arises they would—be used in the defence of France and Belgium against unprovoked aggression, in accordance with our existing obligations."

DEFEND GERMANY
"They may—and if there is a new Western European settlement they would—be used in defence of Germany were she the victim of an unprovoked aggression by any of the other signatories of such a settlement."

"Those, together with our treaty of alliance with Iraq and our projected treaty with Egypt, are our devoted to the maintenance of the League of Nations. In addition, our armaments may be used in bringing help to a victim of aggression in any case where in the judgment it would be proper under the provisions of the covenant to do so."

"I use the word 'may' deliberately, since in such an instance there is no automatic obligation on the part of the British Government to do so, and it is moreover military action of such a settlement."

CHINESE REPEL MONGOL FORCE

Invaders, Under Japanese Officers, Suffer Heavy Losses

KWANGSUI, Suiyuan Province, China, Nov. 20 (AP)—Chinese troops drove Mongol invaders back into Chahar Province today, with heavy losses, while from Pailingman came reports the city was endangered by troops under Japanese command.

Chinese sources said 1500 Mongols, commanded by twelve Japanese officers, threatened to cut off the Suiyuan city from assistance and to blockade routes for delivery of food and war supplies.

Provincial Governor-General Pu Tso-Yi, arriving here from Tsinlin, said his troops drove invaders back in headlong retreat and established positions close to Shanxi, thirty miles inside Chahar Province.

He was confident his forces now could control the eastern border.

TRAINS DELAYED
A band of hostile irregulars in a new attempt to dominate the railroad near Fengchen, south of Tsinlin, caused a seven-hour interruption of service.

(Tokio advices said the Suiyuan disturbances led Japanese Ambassador Shigeru Kawagoe to inform Chinese officials at Nanking that negotiations over anti-Japanese demonstrations in the Northern Provinces would be discontinued until the situation eased.)

"Chinese have charged invasion of the Northern Provinces is inspired by Japanese, who seek to dominate the area as they now dominate Manchukuo. Japanese assert they desire only to lend China 'assistance' in developing her industries and vast natural resources."

Thousands Join Strike in France
PARIS, Nov. 20 (AP-Havas).—Twelve thousand workers prepared tonight to carry Lilles sit-down strike over the week-end as disorders occurred in nearby Roubaix and dockworkers struck in Bordeaux. Building workers also walked out at Saint Louis Upper Saone.

With 8,000 metal workers already out in Lille, 3,000 more voted to swell the movement tomorrow.

These Lucky Mariners Got All the Breaks

When the fuel-barge Dunsyre broke away from the Ss. Anyos, in a southeasterly gale off the West Coast of Vancouver Island, last Tuesday night, the three men photographed above had a terrible experience drifting through the darkness, not knowing where they were or when they would go ashore. Their wind-driven ship passed through perilous waters; and after they had abandoned her in the lifeboat, even tually reaching Kains Island, they watched their late home destroyed in the surf right below Kains Island lighthouse. Left to right, they are: Captain W. Billington, Allan Heater and Ray Larkin.

Fifty Fishermen on Floating Ice Brought Safe to Shore

WINNIPEG, Nov. 20 (AP)—Police reports from Dauphin, 200 miles northwest of Winnipeg, said tonight all fishermen cast adrift on a floating icefield in Lake Dauphin had been brought safely to shore.

No details as to how the men had been rescued were contained in the brief communication from the Royal Canadian Mounted Police post at the northern Manitoba town.

About fifty fishermen were trapped on the huge floating ice pack when it broke off from shore early today. The field was swept out into the lake by a northwesterly gale.

BLACKPOOL, Lancashire, Nov. 20 (AP)—An airplane taking off from the airport here today crashed into a harbor and burst into flames.

The pilot, Captain Charles O'Connell, and the only passenger, Mrs. C. Miller of Ramsey, Isle of Man, were killed. The woman's husband was waiting for her at Ramsey Airport when the plane crashed. With him was their little daughter, Heather Miller.

An agent for the aircraft company said O'Connell was to have been married on Monday.

TOLERATING NO INTERFERENCE WITH SHIPPING ON HIGH SEAS

Insurgents Not Recognized As Belligerents by Britain Would Be Treated As Pirates if Interfering With Vessels Outside Territorial Waters—Franco Threatens Barcelona

Bombs and Shells Continue To Add to Madrid's Horror

LONDON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Great Britain will tolerate no interference with British shipping on the high seas, it was intimated tonight in connection with the Spanish insurgent threat to blockade Barcelona, but draws a sharp distinction between shipping in Spanish territorial waters, which may be the scene of military operations, and shipping outside territorial waters, in other words, on the high seas.

Propaganda Baffles Adult World, Claims Government Adviser

H. B. King Tells Victoria Real Estate Board It Will Take Some Time to Train Young on Need for Critical Thinking

PROPAGANDA in printed form and over the radio, with its appeal to ignorance, prejudice and emotion, baffles the adult world, H. B. King, technical adviser to the Provincial Department of Education, made the foregoing statement in addressing the Victoria Real Estate Board on educational progress in the Province during a luncheon meeting in Spencer's dining-room yesterday. E. F. Burton presided.

Mr. King declared it would take some time to train the young and impress upon them the need for critical thinking and examination in order that they might not be swayed by propaganda like many of their elders. He regretted so many adults criticized existing evils but were extremely uncritical of proposed solutions.

High schools of the province, he asserted, had become extremely academic and divorced from everyday life. Businessmen could not seem to get away from the idea of asking an applicant for a position if he or she had matriculated. "By changing the question to 'have you graduated from high school?' he thought they might encourage many to study more useful subjects. High schools were organized to prepare students for the university and fellowship, but

NOT ULTIMATE AIM

Far too many teachers believed passing an examination was the ultimate aim of education, and it was going to take some time before it was realized mechanical repetition of facts was not the most important part, Major King stated.

Mr. King believed if his report on school financing were adopted, there would be an ultimate reduction of taxes, revival of building and fewer unemployed. He described how the finances of Abbotsford had improved since organization of the combined Abbotsford-Matsqui-Sumas school district. In Abbotsford High School students were being taught blacksmithing, concrete work and other trades of great use in the district.

He told those present how over 300 persons were participating in revision of the school curriculum of the province. The new curriculum was based upon psychological and educational research of the past twenty years, and a great deal of retaining and reorientation of teachers would be necessary. Much obsolete matter had been eliminated from the school courses with the purpose of creating greater interest, more appreciation, better attitude, more understanding and less cramming, Mr. King stated.

Referring to revision of the high school curriculum, he stated that being a member of a matriculation board seemed to be a career. There were many difficulties to overcome, including the prevalent opinion of the great importance of examinations. He told how successful substitution of bookkeeping and business training had proven at Abbotsford. In conclusion, Mr. King declared the new curriculum was not a way to Utopia, but would eventually send boys and girls out into the world better equipped to face the problems of life.

Among the local men who greeted the visitors and took them on a motor drive around the city, were: T. E. Watkins, president; William Findlay, secretary; Jack Barraclough, Leslie F. Osborne, Vernon Ridgway, Lea McMartin, John Monteith, Ronald Fairclough and Elbeck Wilson.

CLAIM WIFE RESPONSIBLE

Court Told Weird Confession Written by Mrs. Small

TORONTO, Nov. 20 (P)—The dead Mrs. Theresa Small was linked by court evidence today with responsibility for the death of her millionaire husband, Ambrose J. Small, Toronto theatre owner who disappeared in 1919, and was officially declared dead years later, though his body never was found.

A purported confession by Mrs. Small, brought to light following her death a year ago, bore the same signature which appeared at the bottom of Mrs. Small's will, it was asserted in non-jury assize court, where Mr. Justice Jeffrey is hearing an action to void the will.

Writing compared Arthur Sprott, Toronto handwriting expert, gave as his opinion that the hand which signed the alleged confession, also signed the will. The signature was that of Mrs. Small, he said.

"You will be surprised to learn that I am, more than any other person, responsible for your brother's death," read the document which was addressed to Mary Florence Small, sister of Ambrose. It said Small was killed, the trunk buried in a dump and other parts of the body burned.

Miss Small started court action to have Mrs. Small's will upset on the grounds she obtained the $1,000,000 estate of her husband by fraudulent means. Mrs. Small's estate was valued at $2,000,000 and was bequeathed to Roman Catholic institutions in Toronto. Should Miss Small be successful in her action, she and her sister would obtain approximately two-thirds of the estate.

EDMONTON, Nov. 20 (P)—Minimum wage for taxi drivers in Calgary and Edmonton of $15 for a six-day week was being ordered by the Alberta Highway Traffic Board, it was announced here today by Chairman Homer P. Keith. The order is effective from December 15. Many drivers have worked on a commission basis, and the general situation has not been satisfactory, Mr. Keith said.

Getting Ready for Opening of Session Early in New Year

Government Also Occupied in Consideration of Canada-United Kingdom Trade Agreement—Prime Minister in Conference With Cabinet

OTTAWA, Nov. 20 (P)—Preparations for the forthcoming session of Parliament and consideration of the Canada-United Kingdom trade agreement are the chief subjects occupying the Government, and the ministers are making no announcements pending the conclusion of negotiations on the last-named subject.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King was in close conference with his Cabinet this week, both in formal sessions and in private discussions in his office. Session preparations involve the consideration of estimates with which are bound up the Government's much-talked-of defence programme.

THE USUAL NOTICE
The Prime Minister said he would announce the opening date of Parliament within the limit of time which will give the statutory forty days' notice. It is anticipated the date will be January 7. It is also expected formal announcement will come after one of the three Cabinet sessions scheduled for next week.

With respect to the Canada-United Kingdom trade agreement, it is understood the Government would like to be in a position to present the basis for its renewal to Parliament at the forthcoming session.

SOME KNOTTY ANGLES
Negotiations opened early last Summer, but there have been several knotty angles which remained obstacles, even after the Prime Minister had visited London a few weeks ago.

It is possible that these points will be matters for discussion when the Imperial Conference is held after the coronation ceremonies in May. In that event, likelihood of a Fall session next year would be strong. The hope is, however, that the treaty, which expires in the Fall of 1937, may be renewed by action at the forthcoming session of Parliament.

One of the first outward signs of the imminent parliamentary session is the presence in his office of Mr. Speaker, Hon. P. P. Cagrain, who has been in Ottawa several days.

Final Tribute Paid to Late W. D. Kinnaird

The funeral of Walter D. Kinnaird, of Royal Oak, well-known pioneer of this city, was held on Friday afternoon and attended by a large number of friends. Rev. William Allan, pastor of Wilkeson Road United Church, conducted the service, during which the hymns "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" and "Rock of Ages" were sung. "My Auld Country" was rendered as a duet by J. A. Grant and W. Jones. The casket was banked with many beautiful floral tributes, a mute testimony to the esteem in which Mr. Kinnaird was held by his friends, many of whom had known him for the past fifty years. Interment was made in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

Members of Columbia Lodge, No. 2, I.O.O.F., attended in a body and conducted their service at the grave, with P.N.G. D. Dewar and P.N.G. J. Foubister officiating. The honorary pallbearers were W. A. Jameson, W. Wilson, J. MacIntosh, J. A. Grant, G. Jones, R. G. Howell, N. McCullough and W. E. Lowe, and the active bearers were J. Jones, S. Drake, J. Maguire, D. Campbell, A. Huxtable and D. Lehman.

ried off the honors of the occasion, remarking, when presented with a heather-colored scarf: "How can an Irishman go around wearing a scarf like that?" a sally that rocked the House, then in recess awaiting re-opening.

With the session over, Premier Pattullo and Mr. Hart are preparing to leave for Ottawa to attend Dominion-Provincial conversations on finance and other matters.

G. E. MacDonald Is Not Candidate for Aldermanic Honors

George E. MacDonald, proprietor of MacDonald Electric Limited, who had been suggested as a possible candidate for a seat on the City Council at the civic election here next month, declared last night that he would not enter the aldermanic race this year.

"I would like to run at the present time, but regret I will not be able to do so. I think a member of the City Council should have ample time to devote to the business of the city. If I entered the contest now and were elected, I would not be able to give sufficient time to the duties of the office," Mr. MacDonald stated.

MacDonald, however, announced that he was planning to run for the council at the election next year.

Two to Get Loans Without Interest

At the tenth annual meeting of the Capital City Building Society and Savings and Loan Association, held last night in the Winch Building, two drawings for interest-free loans took place among holders of the 1927 and 1934 series of shares respectively. The privileges were awarded, as a result, to W. T. Miller and H. M. Digson. The drawing committee included A. T. Hunkin, W. R. Mackintosh and J. V. Johnson, assisted by Mrs. C. Mynd.

The retiring board was re-elected for a further term, consisting of Mayor M. Kinkpatrick, Crockett, president; L. E. Gower, vice-president, and J. V. Johnson, Hubert Leithaby and A. E. Matheson, reporter and accounts for the past year were adopted and H. O. Hinton, of Q. A. Touche & Co., was re-elected auditor.

"The position of the municipalities will be greatly improved through the assumption by the Province of the entire cost of numerous social services.

"It is noteworthy that the financial position of the province has been greatly improved and that the assistance to be given to the municipalities will not entail any increase in taxation.

"More effective measures are being adopted in connection with the unemployment problem and practical proposals are being effectuated in conjunction with the Dominion Government to provide work of essentially useful character.

"The establishment of ore-processing plants will much encourage prospecting and development in our mining industry.

"Provision for capital expenditure upon necessary and desirable public undertakings will be of great benefit to the public service, as well as furnishing employment for large numbers of our people.

"It is to be hoped that legislation in respect of the important problem of the marketing of our natural products may effectually accomplish its purpose and thereby be beneficial alike to the industries concerned and to the public generally.

"The provision to facilitate refunding of municipal obligations upon a basis of agreement between the municipalities and the bondholders, with proper safeguards, should be mutually advantageous.

"In relieving you of your labors, I pray that the blessing of Divine Providence may accompany you to your respective homes."

PROROGATION
Actual prorogation followed. The departure of the Lieutenant-Governor from the Legislature Chamber was the signal for a wild battle of seasonal papers, as Members jostled for their feelings in customary form. Hon. John Hart car-

GAS STATION OWNERS MEET

Victoria Operators Learn of Vancouver's Actions—Resolutions Read

Service station operators of Greater Victoria held a meeting in the Douglas Hotel last evening. Percy Dutton, chairman of the Victoria Division, occupied the chair. G. D. Cunningham, chairman; A. Higgins, H. Tupper, of Vancouver, and B. Vernon, of New Westminster, members of the Provincial Automotive executive, addressed the meeting.

George R. Matthews, provincial secretary of the Retail Merchants' Association, reported on the legislative matters. He outlined the plan of organization which is to take effect immediately, whereby legislative committees, to deal with business practices, will be established in every city in the Province. He thanked those present for the very splendid support they had given to the recent campaign in the interests of better business.

PASS RESOLUTIONS
A. Higgins reported on behalf of the committee that had been making a survey of the conditions pertaining to the service station division. At a mass meeting of the service stations in Vancouver, the following resolutions had been unanimously passed.

That a board be set up, consisting of five, for the purpose of controlling the retail distribution of gasoline. The board to be representative of consumer, retailer, wholesale distributor, labor, and an official of a Government department. The board to be remunerated for the actual time and expenses incurred.

That all gasoline outlets serving motor vehicles throughout the Province be licensed and pay a nominal licence fee for the purpose of regulation.

That new licences be not granted unless recommended by the municipal council and approved by the board. Should objection be raised to the issuing of any new licences, the board should be asked to object before finally assenting to the recommendation of the municipal council.

That all companies, whose gasoline is being sold at retail, be required to post the wholesale price at their distributing centres, which price shall be the only price charged to all retail distributors of gasoline in that district.

That the board determine the spread as between the wholesale and retail price of gasoline and require that all retail distributors maintain the spread.

A request to secure a uniform hour of closing similar to that which had been obtained in Vancouver had been received by the executive, and B. T. Dwyer, Victoria secretary of the Retail Merchants' Association, reported having made a survey of the service stations and found that the great majority favored a uniform hour of closing.

COW BY-LAW IS GOOD IN LAW
Magistrate H. C. Hall Finds City Has Not Exceeded Its Powers

The decision of Magistrate H. C. Hall was given yesterday morning in the police court in the case brought by the city against a number of residents of the northeastern part of Victoria where it was alleged there had been a violation of the city health by-law inasmuch as more than two cows had been kept by those accused, thus violating the health by-law of the city.

The magistrate found that the by-law was good. It was within the power of the city to pass it under the statutes of the Province. In view of the fact that it was the first prosecution under the by-law amendment and there was not sufficient known about it he imposed the nominal fines of $1 in each case.

The magistrate paid a compliment to the counsel, P. R. Leighton and Arthur Patton and the city prosecutor for the valuable help accorded in presenting the test case before him.

It had been alleged that the by-law was discriminatory in character and that further it went beyond the powers conferred on the municipality. He, however, found that the by-law was not in conflict with the statutes.

Youthful Player Has Leading Role in "Dimples"—Strong Supporting Cast

Hailed as the greatest story of her career, "Dimples," new Twentieth Century-Fox picture, brings Shirley Temple to the Capitol Theatre stage today in the most brilliant triumph in her succession of hits.

Shirley plays a little street misanthrope in the production and the role permits her to sing new songs and do dazzling new dance steps that she has even her past accomplishments.

Frank Morgan and Stepin Fetchit furnish abundant and hilarious laughter, while Robert Kent, Astrid Allen and Delma Byron provide exciting, romantic interest. Helen Westley is superb in her role, and the Hall Johnson choir provides unparalleled music.

ATLAS A touch of "the real" theatre—Dick Powell is put in the first National International, "Stage Struck," now showing for the last time today at the playhouse. The picture's habit of talking to himself when he thinks he's unobserved, was incorporated into a little comedy scene by Robert Lord, the author.

OAK BAY June Lang, 20th Century-Fox player, is currently heading the cast of "Every Saturday Night," at the playhouse.

PLAZA Al Shean of the famous "The Shean Show" makes his screen debut as a full-fledged actor in Jack Benny's starring comedy-drama, "It's In the Air," showing for the last time at the Plaza Theatre today. He plays the role of one of the bakers of Benny's stratosphere flight.

Omnibus Marketing Law Put in Hands Of B.C. Ministry

Control and Regulation of Natural Products "in Any and All Respects" Provided in Proclamation Section of Legislature's Final Enactment

BORN, like its predecessor, in the closing moments of the session, a bill to amend the Natural Products Marketing (British Columbia) Act was enacted yesterday before the prorogation of the Legislature. The measure provides for the control and regulation of omnibus powers for regulation and control of natural products, if the Federal statute is invalidated on appeal in London this winter, and redrafts existing sections of the British Columbia statute, with more extensive delegation of authority to commodity marketing boards.

The bill was introduced, and read twice at midnight on Thursday; held up in bitter debate for an hour yesterday morning, and given third reading a few minutes before royal assent was accorded to the measure. The bill was introduced, and read twice at midnight on Thursday; held up in bitter debate for an hour yesterday morning, and given third reading a few minutes before royal assent was accorded to the measure.

TRANSPORTATION ADDED
In Part I of the act, fresh authority is given to the Lieutenant-Governor in Council to regulate the transportation of natural products in route to market, as well as the existing authority to regulate packing, storage and marketing. Commodity boards may be given delegated authority to regulate and control packing, storage and marketing, including the right of search of vehicles, seizure of goods and prohibition of marketing.

Clause 5-9c in the act removes liability of members of commodity boards, retroactively to March 29, 1934, for any of their official actions made in good faith; and stays pending or future actions in the courts in review of what already has been done. The language of this section goes farther, but direct Government undertaking was given by Attorney-General Sloan that the section would be used fairly, and not as a bar to the courts.

"CONTROL REGULATION"
Part II of the act adds blanket provision for whatever type of regulation the Province may decide upon, in the event of the Federal marketing law going down to defeat. After definitions which link "handling" with "transportation" in a manner the Opposition declared ambiguous, the act proceeds.

"THE PURPOSE AND INTENT OF THIS ACT IS TO PROVIDE FOR THE CONTROL AND REGULATION OF THE HANDLING OF NATURAL PRODUCTS IN ANY OR IN ALL RESPECTS." (Clause 13.)

"The Lieutenant-Governor in Council may from time to time establish, amend and revoke plans for the control and regulation of the handling of any natural products, and may constitute boards to administer such plans, and may vest in the boards, respectively, any powers that are within Provincial Jurisdiction and are considered necessary or advisable to enable the boards to control or regulate the handling of any natural product or products."

DELEGATION OF AUTHORITY
Then follow the details of what powers may be delegated to the commodity boards, including a re-draft of existing authority in what was formerly known as the pricing clauses of the old marketing law. The right to search vehicles on

NEW SAWMILL OPENS HERE

Fred Manning Is Proprietor Of Store Street Plant—Acting Mayor Present

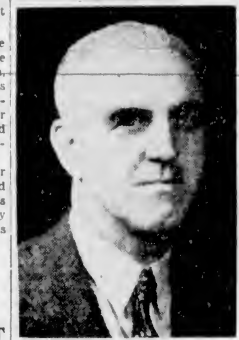

Throwing a small electric switch at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Acting Mayor James Adam started into motion the $20,000 Manning Lumber Mills, Limited, plant on Store Street. The acting mayor then cut a one by twelve-inch plank from the first log that came up the sawmill chute from the harbor.

Fred Manning, proprietor of the mill, announced twenty-five white men will be employed in a single shift, and sufficient orders have been received for all kinds of lumber to keep the plant running continuously until the end of the year. Next January Mr. Manning hopes to be able to double the staff and the mill's total daily cut. The new mill is modern in every respect, with machinery driven by electric motors.

Acting Mayor Adam complimented Mr. Manning on his foresight in establishing a new industry. He then presented a bouquet to Mrs. Manning. The mill proprietor declared he had faith in the future, and expressed gratitude to the City Council for making the mill site available with a favorable lease.

ALD. ADAM IN COUNCIL RACE

Seeks Re-election After Serving Ten Years on All Civic Committees

ALDERMAN JAMES ADAM

Alderman James Adam, a member of the City Council for ten consecutive years, announced yesterday he would be a candidate for re-election. He has held the post of acting mayor for the past two months.

Becoming interested in the deplorable condition of the aged men's home in 1926, Alderman Adam sought election to the council. Largely through his efforts, the institution is now considered a model of its kind. As a member of the parks committee, he had in mind the growing need of recreational facilities for boys, girls, young men and women. He accomplished a lot towards building Macdonald, Howe, and David Spencer Parks, and the playground on the corner of Cowichan and Niagara Streets.

FALSE PRETENCES CASES DELAYED

Reginald Porter Says He Got Into Trouble So That Family Would Be Aided

Reginald Porter, charged with obtaining money by false pretences, told a story in the city police court yesterday that prompted Magistrate Henry C. Hall to postpone action with respect to the accused until this morning. Porter stated that he was not trying to deceive. What he wanted was to have his wife and family taken care of, even though he had to go to jail incurring this assistance to his family.

The accused said that he understood that if he were incarcerated, the family would be provided for in a fairly substantial way. The record of the accused showed that he had been sentenced to jail in Vancouver for similar offences, but Porter told the magistrate that, on being liberated from jail in Vancouver, he had come to Victoria with

HAD RHEUMATIC PAINS FOR 25 YEARS

His Arms Were Becoming Useless

It was about 25 years ago that rheumatism first marked down this sufferer, and finally the day came when he could hardly lift his arms. But he found relief—here in this letter he tells the whole story.

About 25 years ago I first experienced slight muscular rheumatism in my arm and shoulder. A few years later I was also attacked. The rheumatism got worse until the pain got acute in both arms and joints. I could not lift a cupful of water with my arm extended straight out. About 12 months ago I bought a bottle of Kruschen Salt and by the time it was finished I was sorely surprised at a slight improvement. I bought another one, and when that was finished all the pain had disappeared, and had not appeared since.

The limps and stiffness of rheumatism are frequently caused by deposits of uric acid in the muscles and joints. The numerous salts in Kruschen assist in stimulating the internal organs to eliminate the uric acid.

DENIED JUSTICE

The strength of British institutions has been constructed upon the inherent right of an individual to appeal from an actual or fancied wrong to the tribunals of justice. Any attack upon this principle is an assault upon the very foundation of British democracy and upon the rights and privileges of a free people. It was to assure impartial hearing of grievances that the Magna Charta was written.

In British Columbia the freedom of the subject and his inalienable right to carry his complaint to the bar of justice has been seriously curtailed. In the past fifteen years the powers of the courts have been restricted by legislative enactments. The most recent of these efforts to fetter justice are contained in two bills presented by the Government in the dying moments of the session. They deliberately intend to rob persons who feel themselves to be suffering from injustices, of ability to carry their complaints to an impartial tribunal. No other construction can be placed upon a provision in the Municipal Act amendments, stating that any bondholder who does not voluntarily submit to a reduction in interest rates can not have recourse to the courts. It reads:

"When the deposit of such money and refunding debentures is made in respect of any outstanding debentures, the liability of the municipality for principal and interest under those outstanding debentures shall absolutely cease and determine, if and to the extent to which the Province has jurisdiction so to enact, and notwithstanding the provisions of any statute or law to the contrary, no action or proceeding shall be brought, maintained, or continued in any court of the Province against the municipality by or on behalf of any owner or holder of any interest, coupon or interest warrant of any outstanding debenture, or by or on behalf of any person holding a foreign judgment founded upon any outstanding debenture or interest, coupon or interest warrant relating thereto."

Coincident with the introduction of this deprivation of the rights of the subject to obtain justice in the courts of the Province, amendments to the Natural Products Marketing (British Columbia) Act were submitted to the Legislature by the Minister of Agriculture. Here again it is intended to shackle justice. Section 9c, Clause 5, of the bill, reads:

"No action shall be brought against any person who at any time since March Twenty-Ninth, 1934, has acted or purported to act or who hereafter acts or purports to act, as a member of any board appointed under or pursuant to the provisions of 'The Natural Products Marketing Act, 1934' of the Dominion or under this Act for anything done by him in good faith in the performance or intended performance of his duties under either of the said Acts, and every action now pending which if it were brought hereafter would be within the scope of this section, is hereby stayed."

Members of the Legislature voting for closing the courts of this province to any person must accept a grave responsibility. The Government that would set itself, or the Legislature that it controls, above the courts of the land is embarking upon the most dangerous course that must, eventually, if followed, have regrettable effects in British Columbia.

SCIENCE AND ETHICS

Some of the deepest thinkers of the time have come to the conclusion that man's brain has not been able to adapt itself quickly enough to the material changes of the last hundred years. There is, according to Sir W. Langdon-Brown, a mechanized world without moral direction, and he says there are too many men using dangerous machines like toys, as would a child. The lack of moral direction is illustrated by the spiritual doubt that prevails and the political uncertainty, and mankind is turning to many strange cults. Sir Langdon-Brown believes that biology must restore the balance, and of all branches of biology medicine can play the largest share in the reconciliation of science with ethics.

Science offers material comfort and intellectual abstractions. Its products have a tendency to exhaust too much of man's time and to leave them little opportunity for thinking. There is the law of living as well as the propagation of material comforts, and perhaps there is too little thought given to the fact that there is subjection to the laws of biology. Sir Langdon-Brown believes that medicine has an increasingly important part to play in adapting man to material changes which are taking place too rapidly for his adequate realization. Medicine, he says, is becoming increasingly psychological in its approach to suffering, while at the same time developing its scientific armament as much as possible. The field which medicine occupies is an ever-widening one. If it is to fulfill its utmost task it cannot remain isolated in the laboratories, or merely stay at the bedside. It has a mission in spreading the knowledge of biology, and in this way, promoting a reconciliation between the growth of science and the maintenance of ethics. The latter are fundamentals of all true progress.

ROOSEVELT'S VICTORY: AN ENGLISH VIEW

The London Spectator commenting upon Mr. Roosevelt's unprecedented triumph at the polls suggests, as a partial explanation, that the Republicans had a bad candidate, a bad record, and a bad case, and that Mr. Landon, though personally estimable, gave no sign of imagination or leadership. In his campaign speeches, both local and over the radio, he showcased himself as inept two matched against a pastmaster. Moreover, although the New Deal may be defective in its very feature, almost more than half of it has been condemned as unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, although it has involved a riotous spending of public money on an enormous and unprecedented scale, nevertheless it has the reputation of having saved millions of Americans from the financial destruction that threatened them four years ago. Two slogans and the American like slogans may be said to have elected

Mr. Roosevelt. There was the one that reflected Lincoln: "Don't swap horses when crossing a stream." There was another that is reminiscent of Mr. Wilson: "He kept us out of bankruptcy."

So much for Mr. Roosevelt's sweeping victory; but what will he do with it? It is clear from the Spectator's reply to this question that the journal cherishes high hopes of the Republic during the next four years, in domestic affairs and foreign alike. Recognizing what a formidable barrier the Supreme Court presents to the development of social services organized from the centre by the Federal Government, and in the belief that the present is an excellent opportunity of freeing the White House and the Capitol from some of the trammels of 1788, the President may attempt some limited constitutional amendments. In his foreign policy he may do something, or allow Mr. Cordell Hull to do something, towards reducing American tariff barriers. Also his proposed visit to Buenos Aires seems to be a significant gesture towards international co-operation. "Above all," concludes the Spectator, "he will never underestimate the importance of Anglo-American understanding and friendship. In every new endeavor he may make to draw closer the ties between his country and this realm he will be assured of a warm and universal response here."

A SEER IS HONORED

The triumph of the idealist is again illustrated in the recent exhibition in Philadelphia of original drawings, water-colors, books and prints by William Blake. The collection is appraised at a value of $250,000. The English poet-painter-mystic of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries received, perhaps, not more than a few scores of guineas for his work. Blake was late in coming to his own. He died in humble lodgings in London almost a century ago, and was buried by a few friends in an unknown grave. The few copies of his writings were read only by a little band of admirers, and contemporaries like Lamb and Coleridge considered him insane. Today his poem, "Jerusalem," is becoming a national anthem and his paintings and etchings are coveted by connoisseurs.

One of the exhibitors at Philadelphia, Dr. A. E. Newton, rates him as the "greatest artist England ever produced." Blake had the gift in the highest degree of what he termed the "double vision," the quality of seeing past and through the outward manifestation of Nature and life into the soul that is within. He was, in fact, a seer. Such as he was emerge after a time from the cloudiness of contemporaneous misunderstanding into the sunlight of history's wiser verdict.

Only now has it been discovered through the art of divination that beer-suds are equally trustworthy for the telling of fortunes as tea-leaves. The silence of the frothy messages has at last been broken by a Sybil in New Jersey, after centuries of heedless drunk tankards. Taverns now acquire a new significance for there are no headdresses that may not carry their tale of woe or wealth, and the lowliest of drinkers may be forewarned and forearmed against the future. In these days of trying something new tankard-reading may easily replace the tea-cup variety.

Women have won a greater measure of freedom than has ever been aped by men. They use their lipsticks, their eyebrow pencils, their combs and their manicure boxes in public dining-rooms.

Man has never yet had the nerve, or the effort, to ask a waiter for a jug of hot water, and getting out his shaving set, proceed to lather his face. If he did he would probably be ejected. It is necessary for him still to adhere to certain conventions.

"GAUDEAMUS IGITUR, JUVENES DUM SUMUS"

The leaves are falling, falling, and the breeze—The helpless, weary wind—bears them away, Dry crackling, from the harbor of great trees Into the night. There is an end of day.

And lamps are lit, while Summer makes his stand Upon the last redoubts of the creeping snow. The cold, grey, lonely forces seize the land, Wherein our youth was spent so long ago.

Fading our dreams, as fades an ill-fated fire, Those young, sweet dreams in which we defied Laughter and love and honor. And our lyre Is plucked not now, for beauty too has fled.

Yet surely, through these mists shrouding the world, Youth marches still, with banners bright unfurled? —R.W.D., in The Morning Post

Note and Comment

By Sandham Graves

Being of a precise and orderly mind, a citizen of Victoria on board ship wrote a letter to this paper the other day in which he dealt with a serious topic in a comprehensive way. The point of interest to me, however, was in his subscription at the bottom, which read: "S. Lady Nelson, Lat. 27.24 N., Long. 67.18 W., or at a definite and fixed spot on the Atlantic, where often little is definite or fixed."

Now there is the germ of a wonderful idea! When you get right down to it, there are more than thirty Victorians distributed about the world, and one of them was given in an old-time gazetteer as "Victoria, Vancouver, B.C." which was a little vague, to say the least of it. Now, if the latitude and longitude had been included in the gazetteer, which is where you would look for it, there could have been no possibility of a mistake. Instead, for high on fifty years, Victoria was represented as a watery suburb of Vancouver. And is that fair?

The author of the letter, however, is the acme of precision. He leaves not the slightest possibility of error. That massive came from on board ship in the Atlantic at Lat. 27.24 N., and Long. 67.18 W., a spot that will remain the same for centuries to come. Contrast that clarity and distinctiveness with people who vaguely refer to "Victoria, without saying whether they mean Nigeria or Australia. Then, there is another element in the idea. You can use latitude and longitude as a means of concealment, as well as of revelation. Supposing, now, it were reported that the Premier and the Minister of Finance were about to leave for Latitude 45.27 North, and Longitude 75.42 West. Who but an old salt would recognize that as Ottawa? Oh! You might guess, but you couldn't be sure!

Just imagine the possibilities in this thing! They are limitless. This year I sent a letter with an enclosure to a friend in Latitude 52.21 North, Longitude 61.6 West. It sounds difficult, but I have done it often enough before, because that is Dublin, Ireland. Unfortunately there was no response, but I suppose the hospital was busy and just could not attend to it. I wrote it off as a contribution to charity. By all means let us put in the latitude and longitude, and make a good job of it. Now that I think of it, my letter may have gone to Latitude 32.31 North, Longitude 82.55 West, which would have been a total loss, because that is only Dublin, Ontario. What would they know about certain matters I discussed privately in my letter, and what would they do with the enclosure? Dear me, I must not forget to state the degrees, minutes and seconds after this. After all, there is no sense of flinging money away.

Then, take war news. Who wants to go through life forever hearing about the outside the inside of Madrid, Spain? I imagine Madrid is a large metropolis. How simple it would be to give the geographical position in nautical fashion, with degrees, minutes and seconds. Then, we could tell if the rebels or the government was still occupying the city hall. As it is I defy any man to make out from the war correspondents where even they are, from day to day.

There is nothing in my heart but gratitude for that passenger of the steamship Lady Nelson. Atlantic or no Atlantic, he has done us all a good turn. Personally I am looking for his early return to Latitude 48.25 North, Longitude 123.21 West; to Victoria, British Columbia, Canada, in short. And I am saving the idea for my tailor. I shall tell him I live in Lat. 22.14 N., Long. 114.10 E. Let him work it out that that is Victoria, Hongkong!

Population of United States cities is growing rapidly according to a recent census. New York is estimated at 7,364,720; Chicago, 3,599,977; Philadelphia, 1,993,100; Detroit, 1,759,171; Los Angeles, 1,457,181. Seattle is the twentieth largest city in the United States. Its population is 382,239.

Some cities must be in the interest to know that helping wash the dishes is good for removing stains from the fingers.

Speaker Perry to Open City Hall

VANCOUVER, Nov. 20.—Hon. H. G. Perry, Speaker of the British Columbia Provincial Legislature, has been invited to open Vancouver's new City Hall on December 4, Mayor G. C. McGeer announced.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King, previously invited to perform the ceremony, will be unable to attend, Mayor McGeer said.

BY THE EDITORIAL STAFF

Today's Predictions

Will start off this week with Rugby Canadian Scottish clashes with the fast-traveling Navy fifteen at Macdonald Park in an important senior tussle. Well, last time they met, the sailors won, 15-12, so this time I will give the edge to the Scottish. In the intercity game at the same park the combined Rowing Club and Occasional team from Vancouver should take the measure of the J.B.A.A. boys. At the Athletic Park a cup-tie soccer match brings together Victoria City and Saanich Thistles. With the City playing the brand of ball they did last week they should open the Mifflon Cup after a close struggle. At night the Dominions and Capitals go to it again in the third of the series of senior "A" basketball fixtures. Twice the Dominions have turned back their "former mates," once by a one-sided score and then by a single basket. The Dominions should chalk up victory No. 3 this evening after a good fast and probably rough battle. Boston Bruins invade the Maple Leaf Garden to tackle Toronto in the National Hockey League this evening. The Bruins are expected to take the Leafs into camp. This is an awful gamble, as Eddie Shore will not be in the Boston's line-up. Patrick's Rangers travel to Montreal to take on the Canadiens. The Flying Frenchmen are my choice for victory.—J.D.

Once a Weekling

Pew people who saw "Chuck" Nickerson, Vancouver battler, in action Wednesday evening at the Tillicum gymnasium, would guess that the husky 185-pounder weighed just thirty-four pounds only a few years ago. Exercise drove disease germs from his body and then he took up the manly art of self-defence. Ted Moore, manager of Sonny Buxton, also has Nickerson as a pupil. He is being guided by the former English middleweight. Nickerson has become the best light heavyweight on the Mainland. His beautifully balanced nose was given him by Sonny Buxton during a training session.—S.T.

Blondes are golden and silence is golden, so things that are equal to the same thing are not necessarily equal to one another after all.—W.I.P.

Would It Burn?

One of the Island municipal councils refused to sell several pieces of property with buildings, saying the structures were "eyebrows." As long as the council refused that, they didn't cry it. The lumber to those on relief for firewood this winter?—N.A.C.M.

Like a Caveman

We noticed an advertisement in the paper headed "Wake up like a caveman." Too bad for a man's wife if that happened. The wife of the Broad Street barber remarked that Barnum said one was born every minute, but there are adding machines now. Rather a cheap remark for a knight of the shears. Is it true some politicians consider a step in the right direction is a side step? We heard of a Michigan "Street woman" who tried to punish her son by making him stay in the house all day. She was not strong enough to endure the punishment. Population of United States cities is growing rapidly according to a recent census. New York is estimated at 7,364,720; Chicago, 3,599,977; Philadelphia, 1,993,100; Detroit, 1,759,171; Los Angeles, 1,457,181. Seattle is the twentieth largest city in the United States. Its population is 382,239.

Some cities must be in the interest to know that helping wash the dishes is good for removing stains from the fingers.

We know a young man who has a most unusual plan to purchase things he needs. He carefully saves money and then gives for cash.

A well educated person is one who has learned by experience not to listen to the "dotted line."

A man who lives in a busy town, in a crowded district, bought a large clock book but found it absolutely no use. Nearly every recipe said: "First take a clean dish!" —G.B.

ARMISTICE DAY
Sir—I would appreciate the space to endorse the sentiments expressed by Mr. H. W. Hall in his letter, appearing in a recent issue of your valuable paper. I am forced to the opinion that to many, the Poppy and Armistice Day mean very little, if anything at all. Years ago by one I am almost led to believe that its abolition would be better than the mockery that it has descended to. In this connection I am enclosing a poem which you may or may not see fit to print:

"THE BITTER CRY"
In Flanders Fields the poppies grow. The fortunate ones lie there below. For we came back—to what?

A populace with wild acclaim. Who cheered and cheered in Victoria's name. And then forgot.

They are the dead, and heroes all. They did not taste Depression's gall. They suffer not.

We wait the streets, unwept, unsung. A shattered tomb, a withered lung. While all forgot.

They sleep in peace, the ones who died. We flung the torch, and nobly died. A hero's plot.

Alas, we did not die that way. But lived to see that sorry day. When all forgot.

A WESWELL,
1283 Richardson Street, Victoria, B.C., November 16, 1936.

"LOST LEADERSHIP"
Sir—Ring the bells of Heaven like a mighty sea.

Never before in the world's history have there been such times as these, times that need such comforting words as in your editorial of Sunday's issue, November 15. And well they will ring, as they never rang before, as they can ring and will ring through the press. I never read anything before so plainly and beautifully worded, and ringing with such truth.

Amid the ever-increasing economic struggles and political strife, through the maze of distrust, hatred, fear, and suffering throughout the world, we need less knowledge, and more wisdom, amid the crumbling of the upper structures of the church.

The press comes forward as a messenger of Holy Peace, truth having been kicked around like a football for thousands of years.

The press certainly cannot contaminate it, as some say it will. It has a powerful tendency to sanctify it.

"Behold I show you a mystery. We shall be changed, in a moment," in the twinkling of an eye." Cor. 15.

As we go through life we see men getting closer to each other, men who in every sense of the word have lost all earthly things, looking for the guiding light. The feeble cry is: "We have lost leadership. We have lost ourselves."

STANLEY WESTERN,
2860 George View Drive, Victoria, B.C., November 19, 1936.

"A BOND IS A BOND"
Sir—This afternoon I spent in negotiating a loan of twenty-five. Nobody came through, but my tour was entirely successful. "N.B. If my money wanted, the last place to call is at the bank."

In the words of an outstanding "Unstatian": "They hired the money, didn't they? We borrowed the money, didn't we? And made a firm contract." Following the recent advertisement of our city across country and into London and the "Country," it is safe to say that our "word is as good as our bond."

Hardly, after this little attempt to make our bonds at par with our words. "Wanted, a stabilization fund." Just imagine our leading citizens going to prosperous England with a tale and a mission like that. To a people and country which emerged from the depression three and a half years ago.

Let us pay up and be damned (or rather, we shall be if we don't). Still it is refreshing to read that the tour was entirely successful.

J. STAFFORD,
822 Broughton Street, Victoria, B.C., November 18, 1936.

OSTEOPATHY
Sir—It's a long time since October 22, but my attention has only now been called to your column, "The Observation Car," in The Colonist for that date.

I think one can scarcely blame you for reporting what you saw if it was as you described it, but I wish you would listen for a moment while I tell you why I regret the way in which it was reported.

You said that in the lounge of the Victoria-Vancouver steamer on a recent trip there was an old gentleman—a doctor of osteopathy—from the States—who was proclaiming in a loud voice how he could cure anything from a weak heart to fallen arches, or even complete deafness by manipulation.

Probably there are people who make such claims. We know very well that there are men with the M.D. degree who make equally absurd claims. Is there any more objection to telling such things about one kind of doctor than about the other? There is.

Everybody in the country knows personally or more doctors of medicine. If one of them runs wild and makes crazy statements everybody recognizes the fact that it isn't characteristic of his profession, but that it is a peculiarity of the individual.

On the other hand there are only some 2,000 doctors of osteopathy in the whole country. There are many people who know about them and unfortunately, perhaps as many or more who think they know things about them, which are not true. When one of them makes a fool of himself it isn't thought of as a personal failing but the natural result of the profession.

Potato Probe Ends As House Finishes Its Fall Session

Legislative Committee Report Clears All Concerned, But Draws Attention to Request of Some Witnesses for Further Inquiry

LEGISLATIVE inquiry into the British Columbia coast vegetable marketing scheme came to an end yesterday with a report by the select standing committee on agriculture to the House, in which that body said no irregularities had been disclosed. The committee reported the submission of several witnesses who had pressed for an independent audit of the books of the marketing scheme, without actually recommending it in express terms.

The substantive part of the committee's report, presented by Norman W. Whitaker, M.P.P., chairman, was as follows:

EXPRESS OPINION

"The evidence adduced (by thirty-three witnesses at ten hearings) did not disclose any irregularities in the operation of the board or its agency. Nevertheless, your committee feels that such an audit would have a good effect and might tend to eliminate a great deal of the dissatisfaction which now exists."

Elsewhere in its report, the committee said it had found evidence of considerable dissatisfaction and misunderstanding about the vegetable marketing scheme, and recommended greater publicity to the board's plans by advertising, radio talks and otherwise. "Unlawful marketing" of produce outside of the board had reduced that body's possible effectiveness, the committee declared.

SUBPOENA NOT SERVED

The actual hearings before the committee, where sworn testimony and the machinery of a public inquiry had been carried out since Monday last, closed yesterday morning with routine evidence from two subpoenaed Chinese witnesses, and left the puzzle of the non-service of a subpoena on a former employee of the marketing agency still unsolved.

A subpoena for George Macfarlane, of Vancouver, was asked of the committee on Tuesday, but was not issued until Thursday morning, the committee was informed. The Provincial Police had had no opportunity until yesterday to get in touch

ASK PROVINCE TO PAY SHARE

No Extra Christmas Work
For Saanich Relief Men
Unless Aid Given

Unless the Provincial Government contributes its usual share of relief grants, Saanich unemployed will not receive an extra day's work next month. The cost was estimated to be $900.

This was decided by the municipal council on a split vote Thursday night, as a petition from unemployed requesting extra help for Christmas was presented to the board.

Councillor Edward C. Warren and Leslie Pasmore sponsored a motion calling for an extra day's work for each man, with the understanding that the Provincial Government would be asked to contribute its regular share towards the total cost. But it was agreed by the two councillors that even if the Government refused, the men would be given extra work. They secured the support of Councillor John Watson.

AMENDMENT CARRIES
Councillor Arthur G. Lambick moved an amendment which demanded the Provincial Government contribute before the extra work would be allowed. He was supported in this measure by Councillors W. Richard Woods, Henry D. Coton and L. C. Hagan.

Those who supported the amendment declared they felt it was unfair for the taxpayers to bear the entire cost of the aid to relief recipients.

"Oh, well. It is nice for the unemployed to know who is for them and who is against them," said Councillor Pasmore.

"I'm not against them, but I don't think the entire cost should be borne by the taxpayers," returned Councillor Woods.

"You are either for them or against them," answered Councillor Pasmore.

Freedom at Home AND PEACE ABROAD

Right that this should be so, for nations cannot be expected to incur automatic military obligations save for the areas where their vital interests are concerned.

Referring to the Spanish situation, Eden declared "Just because some persons who should be firemen take a hand now and then feeding the flames, that is no reason why the whole fire brigade should leave its post to join in fanning Europe into a furnace."

FREEDOM AND PEACE
Britain's objective during the Great War should be the same today, namely "freedom and democracy at home, peace abroad," the Foreign Secretary continued.

But, he added, peace abroad is a less attainable goal than peace at home. "Since its realization depends not on us alone; yet in this sphere also we must continue to spare no effort."

"We have said many times of late that we oppose the formation of blocs in international affairs. That phrase formed part of the communique agreed upon by the Polish Foreign Minister and myself during Dr. Beck's recent visit to London."

"Our objective is international; operations throughout the world; co-operation wherein all states shall participate. It would be wrong and foolish to pretend that nations can only co-operate in international affairs if their systems of government are similar. The defections from the League which have taken place in recent days have not changed our view that the principle of the League are the best yet devised for the conduct of international relations."

PEACE EFFORTS
Describing Britain's efforts to negotiate a new European security arrangement, the Foreign Secretary said:

"We are attempting as the first stage in that endeavor to replace the Locarno Treaty by a fresh settlement. I will not say more at this stage except that we yesterday circulated a note to our fellow-signatories of the previous treaty of Locarno advocating what we regard as reasonable and mutually acceptable in the light of the replies which we have already received from them."

Eden then turned again to the duties facing Britain.

"First, to do all that it can in the humanitarian sphere to limit suffering. For this purpose our good offices have been and still are available for any purpose wherever they can be acceptable to both sides. Second, to see to it that the conflict itself doesn't spread beyond the confines of Spain."

PROTECTING EUROPE
"We should be rendering an ill-service indeed to Europe were we to allow our partnership for one side or another to persuade us to indulge in practices which would increase the likelihood of the conflict spreading."

"It was with this most important objective in mind that from the very outset we lent our full support to the French Government's initiative in the non-intervention agreement. It is unhappily true that that agreement has not been strictly observed by all, as we could wish."

"That fact, however regrettable, does not cause us in any way to modify our decision in favor of the principle of non-intervention."

"Our decision in this respect was, we are confident, the right one, and whatever the vacillations abroad or in some political parties at home we intend to maintain it."

Dr. H. M. Cassidy Says There Is No Single Unemployment Cure

Speaks at First Lecture of a Series on Modern Economic Problems, Sponsored by Y.M.C.A. and University Extension Department

THERE was no single explanation of unemployment and no single cure, each factor requiring an individual solution, Dr. H. M. Cassidy, director of social welfare in British Columbia, told a gathering at the Y.M.C.A. last night, when he spoke on "Canada's Unemployment Problem." The lecture was the first of a series on modern economic problems sponsored by the Y.M.C.A. educational committee and the Extension department of the University of British Columbia.

"Unemployment is essentially a link relief were unemployable. Long modern phenomena," the speaker pointed out the alarming deterioration and weakening of the morale and health, too, was affected.

Explaining reasons for unemployment, the speaker pointed out the supply of labor was constant, but the demand varied seasonally, geographically, in relation to world and home markets, and changing times.

Governments were trying to find answers to the problem of control in direct relief, unemployment insurance, national employment commission, and legislation providing for increased building.

One good thing, resulting from depression and the unemployment situation Dr. Cassidy said, was the deep thinking of the people and their new-born desire to overcome their problems.

"We have recovered a great deal, but the figures will have to rise beyond the 1929 level before all the unemployed will be absorbed as the number of potential wage earners has increased in the meantime," Dr. Cassidy pointed out.

In discussing the effects of unemployment on the people, Dr. Cassidy said a survey showed that 50 per cent of heads of families, drawn

What Today Means

"SCORPIO"
If November 21 is your birthday, the best hours on this date are from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m., from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m., and from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. The danger periods are from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m., from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m., and from 9 p.m. to 11 p.m.

On this day "Slight not what's near through aiming at what's far." In your own office or home you will find plenty of any kind of warning, visual attention, and it might be good judgment to spend a little of your time now straightening things out. You may be tempted this day to borrow trouble by indulging in a feeling of concern about the welfare of someone in whom you are deeply interested. Have confidence in that person's ability to take care of himself. In crowds be careful you do not lose something. Should you receive any kind of warning this day, give heed to it. Social activities ought to terminate pleasantly, for there is every indication that people will be socially inclined. Be careful how you handle needles and thread this day, if you wish to avoid trouble. Married and engaged couples, and those hoping to receive Cupid's benediction, can keep out of hot water by attending strictly to their own business this day.

If a woman and November 21 is your birthday, you are, perhaps, serious, fond of reading, the theatre and music. You are probably very sentimental, and your sympathy is easily aroused. You may find money too easily, learn to hold on to it. You possibly will be far more popular with men than your own sex. You are generally too ready to plunge headlong into things, so curb any such tendency. You might find it difficult, at first, to put over some idea, but if you persevere you will win out. As a professional shopper, teacher, missionary, writer, musician or actress, fame and fortune may both come to you. If you choose the right man for your husband, your chances for domestic happiness are good.

The child born on November 21, may, when it reaches its majority, show a surprising amount of artistic skill in interior decorating, theatrical production, music and painting.

If a man and November 21 is your natal day, if you will remember that "Fortune leaves always some money open to come at a ready," you will not become discouraged, but will persevere until success crowns your efforts. In the field of invention, medicine, law, acting, journalism or one of the branches of art you may make a good reputation.

Restless Nights - Peppless Days Take the Joy Out of Life

The potent cause lies in the hurried life we lead, in the extreme nervous tension and fever heat with which we follow in the pursuit of wealth, position and pleasure.
Late hours, want of necessary rest, excessive mental or physical exertion all put a strain on the system it is unable to withstand. No wonder then you pass restless nights and get up in the morning with an ambition to go about your daily tasks. Take Milburn's H. N. Pills and see what they will do for you.

REVISE CIVIC VOTERS' LIST

Mayor Leeming Carries Out First Official Act Since His Reinstatement

Mayor David Leeming presided over the Court of Revision of the 1937 voters' list as chairman yesterday morning. It was his first official act since being reinstated to office by Provincial Government legislation. Other members of the court were Aldermen T. W. Hawkins and B. H. Okeil.

After revising, altering and correcting the voters' list, the court turned it over to the printers. It is expected to be completed next Friday. A rough draft of the list is outside the City Hall for public perusal.

Last year there were 11,183 names on the list, only 4,776 of whom voted. This year's list is expected to contain about the same number of names.

HEAR MEMBERS AT GATHERING

G. M. Murray, R. H. Carson and Byron Johnson at Ward Three Meeting

Residents of the Interior had a kinder feeling toward Premier T. D. Pattullo's Liberal Government ago because of the progress made in developing primary industries. George M. Murray, M.P.P. for Lillooet, told the Ward Three Liberal Association last night.

Mr. Murray said that the Provincial Government had bent every effort towards developing primary industries. This was evidenced, he claimed, by its action in voting sums of money for the erection of trails and roads into mining territory in its constituency.

The speaker reviewed the dreaded disease, often contracted by miners, which had been regarded as the most humane bill passing by the House at this present session was the measure placing men afflicted in a position to secure compensation.

cial by ratifying a labor convention. Since it dealt with industrial questions, it invaded the legislative area reserved for the provinces.

Lord Macmillan, member of the Privy Council, said the situation now reached was critical for Canada. He contended this legislation was made necessary by an international arrangement arising out of the Versailles Treaty.

Lord Atkin, another Privy Councillor, observed that Canada had the authority of the Crown behind her for making treaties and that a treaty could be made on the advice of his Majesty's ministers in Canada. But whether he could perform a treaty when legislation was needed was a question.

Lord Macmillan said the bulk of Canada's international engagements would not require legislation but times were changing and some engagements would need legislation.

Popular Model of Ford V-8 for 1937

Most popular car in the entire Ford V-8 line for years has been the Tudor sedan. The 1937 edition is shown above. The new shapefront end, advanced streamlining styling and use of the "tear drop" form wherever practicable, combine to form what those who previewed it declare to be the most beautiful Ford yet produced. The interior appears to be more roomy than in earlier designs, possibly because of the new V-type windshield. The front seat is now full width. Seat back is divided, either section tilting forward. Upholstery is in new wide piping. The body type pictured is available without de luxe appointments. Two engine sizes are available, the famous 85 horsepower V-8 engine and a new 60 horsepower V-8 engine. The new models go on display today in the showrooms of the National Motor Company, Ltd., 519 Yates Street.

Choose Your Christmas Piano Early!

FOR several years past interest in the piano has been steadily gaining, and that means instruments by the best makers are growing scarcer every day. Right now we offer a choice of such well-known makes as Heintzman & Co., Nordheimer, Mason & Risch, etc. . . . pianos like new in appearance, tone and keyboard action, because they have been factory reconditioned in our own workshops. Prices are half, or even one-third, what a new piano would cost. Fine pianos such as these are always in demand, so we advise early choosing for Christmas.

SCOUTS REPAIRING TOYS FOR KIDDIES

Boys Play Prominent Part in Making Needy Children Happy This Christmas

Have you any old toys that are broken down beyond repair? Maybe there is an old plaything stored away in the back of the basement. It may not seem of use to anyone, but still it might hold the missing bolt or nut that will make some other toy run.

The Boy Scouts are offering their time to the repairing of toys for children whose parents will be unable to buy them gifts this Christmas, and any contributions on the part of citizens, no matter how small, will aid in bringing a small measure of happiness into the lives of these kiddies.

One rather odd request from the repair shop headquarters, 1034 Johnson Street, is for old shoe buttons which make "dead" eyes for teddy bears. Dolls' eyes are also in demand—many of the dolls received being without the crowning glory of curly locks.

While books have been received for boys very little reading material for small girls has been offered to the headquarters. If you have either G 4332, G 4396 or G 4994, a Boy Scout will call at your home and collect whatever you have to offer to this worthy cause.

Recruiting Officer to new recruits. "What is your religion?" New recruits, promptly and very smartly: "Militia, sir."

Recruiting Officer: "No, no, I said religion."

New Recruit: "Oh, religion, sir, I beg your pardon, I'm a plumber."

To Relieve Bad Cough Quickly, Mix This at Home

Here's an old home remedy for small-episode-coughs that has been offered to the headquarters. If you have either G 4332, G 4396 or G 4994, a Boy Scout will call at your home and collect whatever you have to offer to this worthy cause.

Impressions of Meeting Given by W.A. Delegates

Columbia W.A. Contributes $2,966.45 Towards Rebuilding of Aklayik Hospital—Doll-Dressing Competition Winners Announced

There was an attendance of 150 members of Columbia W.A. in the Memorial Hall yesterday to hear the reports of the delegates to the Dominion annual meeting held last month in the city.

The first report was given by Miss Cheekley, diocesan junior secretary, who spoke of the help and inspiration gained at the impressive opening service held in Christ Church Cathedral, and the delight felt at being present when the united thank offering was placed upon the altar.

BUSINESS SESSION
A complete survey of the business session was given, and emphasis laid upon the gain in knowledge of the work of the various departments, which Miss Cheekley said inspired all the members with fresh courage to carry on the work.

Dealing with the financial department, Mrs. F. C. Nivn brought out the interesting fact of an increase of $100 in this year's united thank offering, and that a total of $2,966.45 had been contributed by the W.A. to the rebuilding of the Aklayik Hospital. The highlights of that session was the passing of a plan to be a memorial to the late Miss Slater, and the appointment of a worker in the McKenzie River diocese, in the diocese of Athabasca, for two years.

The diocesan president, Lady Lake, in her report referred to the deeper insight into the work of the women's auxiliary gained by hearing the discussions among the officers and delegates who represent the whole of the Dominion.

A motion of regret was passed that the third delegate, Mrs. Fletcher, Duncan, was prevented, through illness, from giving her report and sympathy was to be conveyed to her, also to Hon. Mrs. Bowen-Collins, Boker, who is in the Jubilee Hospital under treatment. The meeting passed a standing tribute to the memory of Miss Wright, of St. Mary's W.A., whose passing was reported.

BOARD WELCOMED

The board was welcomed by Mrs. J. Hinton, president of the Christ Church Senior Afternoon Branch at the opening of the meeting, and the new diocesan member, Mrs. C. A. Cockshott, of Cobble Hill W.A., was welcomed, also Mrs. Wicken, and Rev. H. T. and Mrs. Archibald, Mrs. R. D. Porter and Mrs. Bishlager. All W.A. members were urged to share in the intercessions for Missions on St. Andrew's Day, November 30 and to endeavour to carry on a chain of intercession during the day, as well as attending the appropriate services arranged by the clergy of each parish.

In his impressive devotional noon address the dean spoke of the origin of the chain of prayer on November 30 as it was on that date that the noble missionary, Paterson, was murdered, and the date is consecrated to his memory.

Mrs. Brimer led the intercessions at the afternoon session, which were followed by the report of the diocesan secretary, Miss Lydia Sill, who stated that half a ton of clothing had been sent to the Diocese of Qu'Appelle and Saskatchewan this month, several more bales having been sent direct from W.A. branches.

The Christmas cheer is being provided for the needy missions and all contributions are asked to be sent in on Monday. Cash contributions would be welcome, as there are many incidental expenses to be met, and deficiencies supplied. Gifts might include fruit cake of a good keeping.

A largely-attended musical evening was much enjoyed in the lounge room of Redhaven Sanatorium on Thursday evening, when Mrs. Mary McCoy Jameson, Victoria, rendered a programme of Hebridean songs and stories. Mrs. Jameson told some of the legends and stories connected with the songs and also told of the life and surroundings of the people.

WE HAVE HEARD FROM DEAR OLD SANTA AGAIN

—and do you know? he's packing up all his toys that he is planning on bringing for the good little boys and girls of Victoria. He plans to arrive in the city on SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 28, and he says he hopes all the kiddies will be on the lookout for him.

Big Party for Santa

AT THE CAPITOL THEATRE
SATURDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 28

—and we want all the children in Victoria to come down and give him a ROUSING welcome! You'll see a great show, too—"SANTA'S CHRISTMAS PARTY"—with Donald Duck, Mickey and Minnie and "Pete" arranged and directed by Violet Fowles. There'll be fun and laughter galore! Two shows will be held, one at 9 o'clock and one at 10:30 o'clock. Admission, 10c for children and 20c for adults—proceeds go to Queen Alexandra's Hospital for Crippled Children. After the show, Santa is coming direct to "The Bay" Toyland, where he will make his home until Christmas. Tickets for Santa's Party may be obtained in Toyland, Third Floor.

ARMAGEDDON'S EVENING THEME

Dr. Davies to Discuss International Affairs at Empire Sunday Night

"The Secret of Personality" will be the theme of Dr. Davies on Sunday morning at the Empire ministry. At the evening service, Dr. Davies will speak on "Armageddon Closes In."

Along the line of this theme, the following questions will be answered: "Is God using Japan and Germany as a 'Hook in the Jaw of Russia' as mentioned in the Ezekiel prophecy? In view of Germany's joining in a defensive alliance with Japan against Russia, how do you interpret that Germany is the 'Gomer of Ezekiel,' the ally of Russia in Armageddon?"

If Britain and the U.S.A. and their kindred nations are not the loyal people, as many aver, what would be the position of Anglo-Saxons if they are Gentile nations? Will they escape the coming judgment of the nations?"

"What evidence is there for the statement that after September 16, 1936, the Anglo-Saxon nations will have release from economic stress? How can you say that 'Babylon the Great' has fallen when men like McGeer, Abernethy and Leeming are unable to budge the financial interest to reduce interest? Are not the former still in the saddle?"

"If you were candidate for Mayor of Victoria, what platform and programme would you project to win the election or to benefit your city?"

VISITOR TO GIVE NEWS FROM CHINA

Rev. R. W. Gibb is Evening Speaker at Emmanuel Baptist-School Dedication in Morning

Rev. C. W. Gibb, general director of the China Inland Mission, will speak at Emmanuel Baptist Church Sunday evening on "The Curtain Lifted on China." The choir will sing "Lead, Kindly Light" (Evangelical) and Mr. Durant will be the guest soloist.

A special dedicatory service upon the reopening of the Sunday school building will be held in the morning, commencing at the regular church service. Dr. Inrie will give a message in keeping with the sentiments of the day, and the morning anthem will be "Grant Us Thy Peace" (Mendelssohn).

International Competition Assured When City Champions Are Crowned Tonight—Pearson Scores Great Victory Over Browne-Cave

City table tennis champions will be crowned this evening in the basement of the Westholme Hotel, headquarters of the Victoria Table Tennis League, with the playing of the semi-finals and finals of the men's singles and doubles.

International competition in the last steps of the tournament—one of the most successful ever staged here—was assured yesterday evening as Victoria players, in company with visiting Vancouver and Seattle exponents of the game, advanced to the select bracket.

There were a number of fine matches yesterday evening, but the fixture that really stole the show was the men's singles battle between fifteen-year-old Ray Pearson, Washington State champion, and Wilmet Browne-Cave, former city titleholder. The invading Seattle youngster finally won, but only after a record-length last game that went to 32-30.

GREAT BATTLE
Pearson, slim-built, good-looking boy playing here for his second year, stood up against the steady, stone-faced playing of Browne-Cave in fine fashion. Both players uncovered a number of brilliant shots and some of the returns made by the local star were phenomenal.

The visiting player set up a two-game lead with scores of 21-13, 21-17, and then Browne-Cave, making splendid returns of Pearson's terrific smashes, took the third fixture, 21-13. The fourth and final game went sixty-two points with Pearson finally winning, 32-30.

Walter Judd, another Seattle youth who really smashes the ball, advanced to the men's singles semi-final in company with Pearson by reason of his victories over Lionel Cox and Eric Cox, Victoria players. Judd will meet Pearson tonight in the lower bracket semi-final and it should be a great match.

Vic Tully, Victoria star, will be the Capital City's lone standard-bearer in the men's singles play tonight. Tully advanced to the semi-final at the expense of H. Pilon, hasty Vancouver ping-ponger.

In the men's doubles, Eric Cox and Roy Wood reached the semi-finals and are the only local pair to advance thus far in quest of the city championship.

B. Kennedy, Vancouver Pacific Northwest titleholder and rated as one of the finest players on the Coast, will be seen in action today.

WINS WOMEN'S TITLE
Mildred Phillips, former Victoria Lawn Tennis Club champion, turned in a steady performance to defeat Mrs. S. L. Butcher in the final of the women's singles. After losing the first game, the newly-crowned champion came back with three straight triumphs and the title. The score was 15-21, 21-19, 21-16, 21-17.

Mrs. S. L. Butcher and Dan McClellan lifted the mixed doubles crown after a five-set battle with Mrs. Greenwood and L. Greenwood. The scores were 21-15, 18-21, 21-10, 20-22, 21-15.

Play will commence this evening at 7:30 o'clock, with the final scheduled to commence at 9 o'clock. The public is invited to attend.

Thomson, Shute, Wood and Mehlnhor Advance in P.G.A. Tournament

By BOB CAVANAGHO
Associated Press Staff Writer
PINEHURST, N.C., Nov. 20 (AP)—Four fellows whom the experts figured just came to Pinehurst for the ride, will fight it out tomorrow in the semi-finals of the Professional Golfers' Championship.

Nobody picked Craig Wood, after his collapse at Augusta earlier this year, Jimmy Thomson who has been on a circus tour mainly for his long driving, Benny Shute, who practically retired from tournament golf to accept a job as a home club pro, and Bill Mehlnhor, who has a cowboy hat and an arsenal of clubs. But there they are.

Three of them, Thomson, Wood and the thirty-eight-year-old Mehlnhor, are strictly tournament professionals with no club alliances. So now the old argument comes up, can a guy play and teach it too?

Security Prices Lose Ground at New York Mart

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP).—Confronted by fresh European political tension and prospects of further governmental stock exchange restrictions, the share market today bounced down a few more steps.

Several utilities and specialties ran counter to the trend, but losses of fractions to 2 more points predominated at the close.

It was the slowest session since November 2, transfers totaling 1,821,000 shares against 2,435,712 yesterday. The Associated Press average of sixty issues was down 5.5 of a point at 70.8. It was off 9.3 Thursday.

With the Federal Reserve Board and Securities and Exchange Commission reported to be compiling new rules for traders and exchange members, stock exchange membership registered another drop. Two sold during the day, one for $105.00, and the other for $102.00, the latter only $2.00 above the low mark of the year to date.

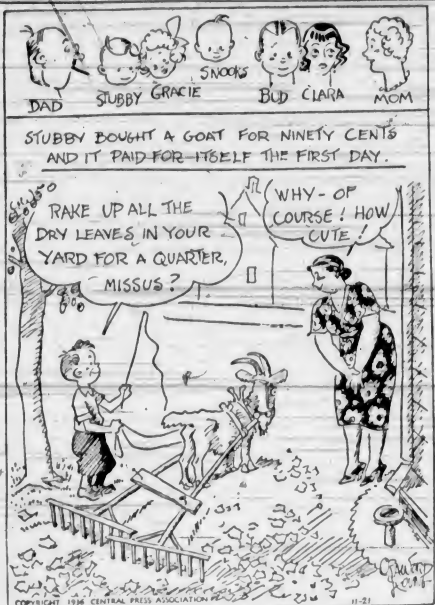

International Harvester and Good-year got up more than a point each at 99.1-4 and 28.3-8 respectively.

Receiving little bullish inspiration from the share list, the bond market held to a moderately lower price plane.

U.S. Treasury 3-4 1/2, 1946, gained 6-32. Elsewhere prices ranged from 1-32 to 8-32 of a point.

THE TUTTS... By Crawford Young

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

MUSIC—FROM "ALL ARTS"

Music, we once read, is a generic term covering a multitude of sounds. Many a truth is said in jest, and quite a few witticisms are alive with meaning, hidden even from the maker.

Here, substitute in the first paragraph "arts" for "sounds" and you have something—something inherent in the birth of the word.

"Music" comes to us by way of the French and Latin from the almost identical Greek collective noun which represented any arts over which the Muses presided. Music, therefore, originally was a generic term covering the so-called fine arts.

It was only because "music," as we understand the designation, was one of the arts which, by virtue of its intrinsic appeal came in for outstanding devotion by the Muses that the word early took on significance as the realm of tones or sounds of higher or lower pitch, in their various relationships to one another.

Jane Dixon Says:

ROUND-UP DAY PROBLEMS: THE GIRL WHO ASKS WHETHER SHE SHOULD RISK MARRIAGE WITH AN INTERNE WHOSE ALLOWANCE IS SMALL—THE WIFE WHO STOPPED THE VISITS OF HER HUSBAND'S SO-CALLED BEST FRIEND—HOW TO HANDLE A VACILLATING LOVER—USING A WEDDING RING FOR A LIFE-SAVER IS POOR JUDGMENT

We're off on another round-up.

Earnest. If the young medical interne wants and needs you, and you feel you will be able not only to live on his allowance but to save a little toward the establishment of his practice, I see no reason why you should not yield to his importunities and marry him. Sometimes it is better to take a chance on happiness with one we love than to chance losing that love. This appears to be such a time.

L.E.E. You did exactly right by stopping the visits of the man who pretends to be your husband's best friend and who took advantage of that friend's absence to try to make love to his wife. What is more, you should discourage any further association between this man and your husband, for he is a treacherous person and without principle. Such persons often try to make reprisals on those who have angered them by train from visiting his home, and when he comes to yours treat him with polite formality. Under no circumstances admit him unless your husband is there to receive him.

Waiting. If the young man loved you he would "break off" with the other girl by telling her quite frankly that his heart interest is elsewhere and he feels it unfair to her and to the girl he loves to take up her time and attention. You had better make up your mind to regard him as a friend and put the emotional attachment behind you. Perhaps, when he finds your attitude toward him has changed, that you no longer seek his affection, he will discover you are the one girl after all, and he will cease his silly vacillation. One makes new friendships by being friendly. Young men of your acquaintance may be invited to your home, even though they have not asked to call on you, to a party, not solo.

Anonymous. The pastor of the church in which this woman makes a show of doing God's work should be informed of her duplicity and of her evil life. She should be warned that unless she ceases her deceptions the families of her associates will be notified and her conduct spread on the public record along with that of your friend's philandering husband. He is even more deserving of the punishment you name than is the woman, for he defiles his home, than which there is no conduct more despicable. To remain in the intimacy of the home with such a person is not only to sacrifice self-respect, but to alienate the respect of all right-thinking people.

Reader. Marriage is no safety biter. A woman who thinks of using a wedding ring for a life-saver, in the sort of witless voyager who tosses life-savers into stormy seas and then jumps in after them. Your effort to save a bawse via marriage was not contemptible. It was a bad mistake in judgment. Very bad if I treat your note correctly. The best and kindest philanthropy in all the world is truth.

Undecided Couple. The next time the youngster of fourteen, the husband's sister, invites guests to your home without having the courtesy to notify you, and when you remonstrate with her tells you what she does is her own business, make it your business to inform the guests in her presence that you are sorry, but you did not expect them and that you have made other plans. Allowing such an ill-bred and inconsiderate youngster to pursue her ruthless way is contributing to the sort of unsocial conduct which will land her flat on her face. Keep away from troublesome persons, kin or no kin, and treat them with the courteous politeness that will keep them away from you.

CHAPTER XXVI

The trio applauded, noisily. "Your poor lamb," Josh smiled at her drooping twin. "Hop into the tub and slip on something cool. I know you feel as though you'd been in a Turkish bath after the subway."

"Goodness knows where you'll find anything among the baggage," said Maida as she got up and followed Josh into the bedroom. "How are we ever going to get all this mess straightened out without Mrs. Tell?"

While Jake bathed, Maida produced cool blue lounging pyjamas, and hung them in the bathroom.

"Mercy!" she rushed out to the living-room, with a hopeless little laugh. "I'd completely forgotten we have to have something to eat! The stores will be closed."

"I look after that," Linc stood back to admire a picture he had just put up. "The things will be here any minute now."

"Linc!" Josh expostulated. "You shouldn't have done that!"

"Dry up!" Linc waved her aside. "There's the dumb-water bell now. I got only ham and eggs and potato chips and a few things I thought we could do with tonight. I knew that after moving we wouldn't feel like going out tonight."

"What would we have done without you?" Maida hurried to get the groceries. "There's nothing like having a man around the house to do your thinking for you!"

Jake appeared looking cool and refreshed.

"When do we eat?" She stretched prettily.

"When you cook it, I presume," Linc grinned. "Heaven help us."

"No, a bad idea. Mother and I will get dinner while you two fuss in here. We've got to learn something, I guess."

The few things Linc thought they might be able to do with for dinner proved to be nearer a week's supply. Josh knew, when she saw the loaded baskets, that he was trying to help because he felt they needed it. It would be useless to try to stop him. She would hardly know what to do about it if he kept on with his generosity.

Josh called cooking instructions from the living-room, and after a long time Maida and Jake announced that dinner was served.

There was a huge platter of badly battered-looking ham and eggs in the center, with allied cheese, potatoes, pickles, and a delicious angel-food cake. The coffee was as black as jet. The four sat down to their meal with an attempt at gaiety they did not feel.

They had just begun to eat when the door-bell rang. It was Kel. Josh was certain he hadn't had dinner, and when he admitted it, they set a little place at the end of the Dutch dining room and he joined them.

"I just came to give you a bit of good news," he announced cheerfully as he sat down. "Suzie has rallied a little this evening. She shows signs of responding to treatment for the first time. I thought you'd like to know."

"Oh, Maida leaned forward, 'tell us all about it!'"

The doctor told us as much as he could of Suzie's condition. "It's our first good sign," he smiled. "And naturally I'm very much encouraged."

Well, this ought to be a celebration," Josh announced cheerfully. "Fancy!" Jake leaned her elbow on the table. "All of us sitting out here in Flushing in a little four-room apartment! And my learning how to cook! Fate, all fate!"

"I must say," Maida smiled at her lovely child, "you look quite cheerful about it."

"It's the gossip in me," Jacqueline blew her kiss. "Beside, I'll have you know I'm a successful business woman. I sold two good, strict, fellow a very good old-fashioned wife."

"Are you proposing to me sort of offhand like?" Jake came back gaily. "Because you are, the answer is I could never love a cut with red hair. I'd be afraid of his violent temper. So sorry!"

"But! But! You're the third blonde who has turned me down this week. But tell me, did you make this coffee?"

Jocelyn would struggle with Jake and her mother to keep their clothes washed and ironed. Sometimes she would come home and find that Maida had washed out linens and lingerie and hung them on the ceiling rack in the kitchen. Her hands would be blistered and painful, and she always seemed to have a burn on her fingers or arms.

The problem of Fall and Winter clothes for Jocelyn brought a serious family conference. Since her loss of weight at the sanitarium, and the loss of still more as a result of her worry over Suzie, it would be impossible for her to think of wearing anything she had worn the year before.

It was Jake who finally solved the problem for them. With a talent they hadn't dreamed she possessed, she fashioned several gowns from Maida's and her own splendid wardrobe, and made them over to fit Josh.

With Jake's flair for style, Jocelyn was better dressed than she had ever been in her life. Jake sat up until all hours making and stitching while Josh sat by and marvelled at her flying fingers.

To think of Jake parting with her loveliest things and sharing them with her plainer sister was unbelievable in itself. But one day when Maida walked out with her mink coat and came back with a lovely caracul for Jocelyn, that was the high spot of the new wardrobe.

What Josh learned, what her mother had done she sat down and cried. Maida told her not to be ridiculous.

"Wouldn't I look silly running around here in a three-thousand-dollar mink coat?" she laughed gallantly. "It just isn't in keeping with the picture I was glad to get enough out of it to buy the caracul for you. You'll need a good warm coat, going back and forth to the office in cold weather. Jake's squirrel she got last year is so handsome. I just couldn't think of your not having one, too."

Josh buried her head in her mother's lap and gave way to her emotion. What a wonderful mother Maida had become! To think of her giving up her lovely mink for a cloth fur-trimmed coat so that she might look well dressed!

The three months had not only wrought a remarkable change in Maida's attitude toward her family, and life. She had changed physically to an almost unbelievable extent. Her hair had lost its gold, and was streaked with white. She would not spend money for a permanent, and every bit of her wave was gone.

To see her working around the apartment with her hair drawn back plainly over her ears, and wearing a simple little house dress, always brought a lump to Josh's throat. She could not believe her mother, and not believe her own eyes.

But if Maida were bitter because her friends had apparently forgotten her, she gave no sign. One day when Jake came home and told of a debutante who had snubbed her in the shop Maida had laughed it off.

"Lots of people have lost all their money, darling," she said comfortingly. "That's no disgrace. Just think of all the people we know who lost their money in the depression."

Jake nodded miserably. "But it gives you sort of funny feeling not to get any more worthwhile invitations, and to have people you used to know so well gloat over the fact that you're a working girl."

"Well," Maida smiled ruefully, "you look back just a little while, you may see the reason why. How many people did we bother with when we thought they couldn't better our positions in some way? My dear, I was born grinding an axe. I think."

Jake regained her sense of humor. "Well," she sighed, "I take it that's your way of reminding me that I'm getting my just deserts, and I guess you're right. But all I want to play makes Jake a dull gal. The trouble of it is, the boys who do want to play with me used to play too rough."

"Well, you know what we want to think of girls who modeled in shops and posed for artists. We'll just have to get used to the shoe being on the other foot, precious."
